OUR TAKE

This property has real potential — and real baggage.

The location and zoning are genuinely strong. But the current owner is in active foreclosure and the building carries legal, physical, and tax constraints that a listing won't mention. Go in with eyes open.

WHAT THE PUBLIC RECORD SAYS ABOUT THIS ASSET

Independent of what you plan to do with it

■ The owner is in foreclosure — 8 months after buying it.

J2 Hollander LLC paid $4.78M in April 2025. By December 2025 a foreclosure (Lis Pendens) was filed against them on both parcels, and a mechanics lien appeared in May 2025 — weeks after closing. This is a seller in active distress: title is clouded now, and no lender will finance the property until it's resolved.

✓ Retail on the ground floor, housing above — no special permits needed.

The property is zoned C1-3 (Neighborhood Commercial), so ground-floor retail with housing above is permitted as-of-right — no special hearings, Zoning Board, or alderman approval. This is your cleanest path. The prior owner's battles were over a specific design proposal, not the zoning itself; a standard mixed-use program avoids that friction.

■ Two owners. Seven years. Both lost money.

The prior owner (GW Logan Square LLC) paid $5.83M in 2018 and sold for $4.78M in 2025 — a $1M+ loss in one of Chicago's strongest neighborhoods. They fought the assessor in court every year, and their project was blocked for years by City Hall friction. This property has actively resisted development — understand why before committing.

■ The City Council approval for apartments has likely expired.

City Council approved a residential conversion in July 2024. In Chicago a permit must be pulled within 12 months or the entitlement lapses — and none was pulled. So the approval the prior owner fought for is likely gone, though a straightforward mixed-use program may not need it. Confirm with a zoning attorney.

$ The tax bill is $125,000 a year — and it's probably going up.

Property taxes were $125,085 in 2024 — about $10,400 a month before any mortgage or operating costs. The assessor values the property at $9.24M, a figure the prior owner got reduced in 2024; the new owner hasn't appealed. If you buy, filing a tax appeal on day one isn't optional.

↑ The neighborhood demand is genuinely strong — this isn't hype.

Logan Square consistently ranks among Chicago's top neighborhoods for real estate activity. Two Blue Line stops sit within half a mile, both up 20%+ in ridership over three years. Larger-unit rents run 12-75% above federal Fair Market Rent, and 11 Michelin-recognized restaurants are within a mile. Solve the asset's problems and the market will show up.

■ It's a landmark. You can't change the outside without city approval.

The Hollander Building carries an Orange Tag (Chicago Historic Resources Survey), so it's locally significant. Any exterior change — windows, doors, facade, storefront, signage — needs Commission on Chicago Landmarks review. Not a dealbreaker, but it adds time and cost, and some changes may be denied. Get a pre-consultation before finalizing plans.

■ The building is maxed out. You can't add square footage.

At 28,905 SF on an 18,620 SF lot, the building already exceeds its maximum Floor Area Ratio by 29% — legally non-conforming, grandfathered but frozen. You can't add an addition, floor, or footprint without a variance. Fine for a conversion play, but if your plan needs more square footage, this property won't support it.

FAR ANALYSIS

Over-Built — Exceeds Current Zoning (Legal Non-Conforming)

This property uses 129% of its allowed floor area, exceeding the zoning limit. It is likely a legal non-conforming structure (grandfathered). Expansion is generally not permitted without a variance.

FAR Utilization

129.4%

Current FAR

1.55

Max Allowed FAR

1.2

Existing Building

28,905 sq ft

Lot Size

18,620 sq ft

Lot size combines 5,850 sq ft (primary) + 12,770 sq ft (2424 N MILWAUKEE AVE) = 18,620 sq ft total. FAR calculated on combined parcel area.

What Counts Toward FAR

✗ Basements where the ceiling height is 4 ft or less above ground elevation do not count toward FAR.

✗ Pilot houses / dog houses that are 33% or less of the roof area do not count toward FAR.

✓ Garages and ADU spaces count toward total FAR as-is.

For exceptions or variances to these rules, consult a zoning attorney.

Why FMR matters for underwriting: HUD Fair Market Rent provides a standardized, conservative rent baseline, effectively serving as a worst-case revenue scenario. If a deal works at FMR levels, it signals strong downside protection and a compelling opportunity.
